

Peter Hunt, Partner, ADR International

Peter Hunt is a leading thinker in integrating business and procurement strategies.

Before joining ADR International he held senior positions with British Airways and Wang Computers in Brussels.

With ADR International he has led many major procurement transformation initiatives including sourcing and supplier relationship management process redesign.

Peter has managed and advised on strategic outsourcing programmes, and designed and delivered global development projects incorporating blended learning and follow-on coaching to embed skills.

He is a frequent contributor to business and procurement specific journals and is a member of CIPS in the UK.

He holds a masters degree in business administration.

ADR International is one of the longest-standing global procurement consultancies, established in 1986. It now offers a full range of procurement services covering consultancy, training and development, interim and permanent recruitment, sourcing, technology and audit.

www.adr-international.com